Conference for European Christian Leaders
April 23rd - 27th 2008

‘Living as a People of Hope’

making sense of the times - equipping for harvest
- preparing for the return of the Lord

At one level there is much to be pessimistic about: Thirty percent of all Western European nations have a negative population growth and as a result, Islam is now the fastest growing religion on the continent. Despite our advances in science and medicine, it is still soulless economics that drives public policy. The very technology which has enabled the most complex high speed communications is paradoxically undermining human relationships and producing a new form of social alienation. An entire generation is on the one hand increasingly indifferent to the Christian Faith, yet on the other hand dabbles in every kind of pagan practice. In such a darkness St. Paul reminds us “On him we have set our hope!” (2Cor 1:10) Building upon this theme John Paul II spoke of a great new springtime for Christian Faith – In the midst of so many heart-rending developments he challenged us to “Cross the threshold of Hope”.

This is a conference aimed at helping us regain our bearings and to not only be able to make better sense of the times we live in but also to more effectively address the great hunger that ravages the people of post-modern Europe. It is our hope that the participants will receive a fresh call to live with the expectancy of servants who understand that one day the master will return and that “since we have such a hope, we are very bold” (2Cor 3:12)
